To Whom It May Concern,

I am a repeat client over the last 15 plus years to Roger Warner Construction. I bought an older home in 2003 that had been badly remodeled and was "grandfathered in" close to the Potlatch River near Kendrick, ID.

RWC worked with me on several phases of remodel as needed and as I could afford. I appreciated the creativity of Roger and his crew as they dealt with the challenges of the old home. Through the years, they remodeled a bathroom, improved and rebuilt the foundation, removed and rebuilt a portion of the home, replaced flooring, installed new cement siding on the home and carport and built a new pole barn. They also did earth moving around my place, as needed. In all these projects, I appreciated their vision of how the project needed to come together, including structure, electrical, plumbing and final finish, for a solid and comfortable and pleasant structure as the end result.

I highly recommend RWC for any building or construction project.

Thank you for your attention,
